CATHOLICS URGED TO KEEP OUT OF THE LIQUOR BUSINESS.

RESOLUTIONS OF THE TOTAL ABSTINENCE UNION

ST. VINCENT'S ARREY AT LA-

The Abbey of St. Vincent, at Latrobe, Penn. the monks connected with which are engaged in the production of beer, came in for a voiley at the third day's session of the Catholic Total Ab-Union Convention. The attack was embodied in the minority report of the Committee on Resolutions, of which Father O'Brien was chairman. This minority report was offered by Father Zurcher, of Buffalo, who sharply criticised the Catholic newspapers at the session of Thurs-at Plainfield, N. J., being particularly noteworthy. Bishop McGoldrick, of Duluth, was heard from in an earnest letter. It was after the reading of these communications that the report of the Committee on Resolutions came up for consideration. Father O'Brien, the secretary of the committee, read the majority report, which was deliberative and temperate in tone, but at the same time emphatic in urging Catholics to get out of the saloon business. The report also dealt with the question of Sunday closing of anloons, and urged the pas sage of "screen" laws and "single-entrance" laws, and any legislation which will enforce rigid Sunday observance. Every salient point, as it was brought out in the forcible reading of the secretary of the committee, was met with enthusiastic

The minority report, as read by Father Zurcher, was the same in general effect, with the single exception of the clause relating to St. Vincent's Abbey. This condemned the monks of the abbey

"That," said the speaker when he had con-cluded the stinging reference, "Is the darky be-hind the fence in my report."

Delegates looked at one another as though seeking light to guide their subsequent action. Then Father Ward moved the adoption of the majority report as read, and that the portion of the minority report referring to St. Vincent be incorporated as a resolution that a copy be forwarded to the monks of the abbey Once before the convention, the issue came nearer to creating a positive difference and speakers were abundant. Father Lamley, of Pennsylvania, secured attention first, and remarked that he was decidedly not in favor of any "milk and water resolutions." It was a shame, he declared with warmth, to see "St. Vincent beer" sold and hawked about. It was worse still to have to contemplate the manufacture of this beer by monks. If the convention could not commit itself flatfooted on the question, he would advise complete silence.

First Vice-President Logue, of Philadelphia, argued for a division of the question and the adop-tion of the majority report, excluding the personality. He said that it had been agreed upon by most of the delegates that the name of the place been fruitful of discussion in the councils of the organization in the past. This brought the secretion that the question had been freely discussed in the committee. He said that among other things offered for the committee's consideration had been a resolution calling attention to this "humiliating Delegate, Monsignor Satolli." Continuing, he arked: "We realized what a difficult thing it is get out of the liquor business while our own monks are making and selling liquor. And we deelded not to bring it up here, but to leave it to Monsignor Satolli, in whose hands it now lies for

The Rev. Walter Ross, of Ohio, held that the question should be brought squarely before the convention, and to accomplish that end offered this

Recognizing the inconsistency of declaiming against Catholic laymen in the liquor business, while passing over in silence the unseemly spectacle of religious orders and clergy managing and encouraging the unbecoming traffic, the Union deplores the continuance of this uncedifying example and hopes for its speedy suppression.

A POPULAR COLORED DELEGATE

The reading of this resolution only added fuel to the fire and relief was needed. It came just in the nick of time in the person of Mr. Ma-gee, of St. Paul, Minn. Mr. Magee is a colored man, in fact a black man, but he is one of the best criminal lawyers in his Northwestern home and a general favorlie in the convention. His recognition by President Cleary was the signal for cheers and he was compelled to take the stage.

"The darky has been smoked out of the woodpile," said he, showing his white teeth in a broad smile, and again the audience was dissolved in cheerfulness. The danger point had been tactfully evaded. But Magee was serious. "It seems to me," he remarked. "that this disgrace has been tolerated too long. Can the convention compromise with it? It cannot. And on the occasion of its sliver jubilee it must speak out against St. Vincent's beer."

Secretary Doyle criticised the resolution of Father Ross as too broad in its condemnation, implying, as it did, that the religious orders and clergy of the Catholic Church generally are engaged in encouraging the liquor traffic! "Do you believe that of the Catholic clergy?" he eloquently asked. Cries of "No! No!" were heard from all parts of the hall. "Then," he continued, "you cannot indorse this resolution."

THE MAJORITY REPORT ADOPTED

Other speakers followed, each having a remedy to offer, but it ended in the adoption of the majority whereas, The Catholic Church in the United States to doing everything in its power to lessen the evils of intemperance; and, Whereas, She has, through her Bishops in Pienary Council assembled, approved and hearthy commended the laudable practice of total abstinence; and.

All efforts to change the constitution had been liscountenanced by the president's annual address committee. The report of the Auditing Committee was passed upon and then the struggle began as to whether St. Louis or Denver should have the next convention. After a recess of five minutes the vote went to St. Louis. The convention will be held the first week in August next year. James F. Brennan, of Mount Carmel, Coum. was elected second vice-president over John O'Brien, of Stillwater, Minn. This was the only chance of a contest, the old officers being re-elected. All the officers were called to the stage and there repeated the pledge of fealty. Before adjournment Mrs. Lake read a cheering communication from Miss Frances Willard requesting the convention to send to the Women's Christian Temperance Union convention the Rev. George Ott, of Chestertown, Penn., as fraternal delegate.

The motion to adjourn had hardly been carried when President Cleary, with upilified hand and in solemn manner, commanded, "On your knees for the pledge," and the assembly devoutly knelt while they repeated their pledge together. Prayer by Father Elliott, of the Paulist Fathers, closed the proceedings. To-day the delegates will have a ride up the Hudson, leaving West Fifty-ninth-st, at 19 o'clock in the steamer Tolchester. Luncheon will be served on board and they will return by 6 o'clock in the evening, so that any who desire can take night trains for their homes. was passed upon and then the struggle began as

STOCKS OF WHEAT AND FLOUR. STATISTICS COMPILED BY A WESTERN TRADE

PAPER

Chicago, Aug 9 .- "The Daily Trade Bulletin" will publish its monthly report of supply of bread-stuffs in Europe and America to-morrow. The quantity of flour and wheat on passage to Europe quantity in store increased 4,500,000 bushels, making a net decrease in all European supplies of 1,600,000 Total supplies on August 1 were 86,800,000 bushels. One year ago the supplies were $1,940,000 bushels, or 4,860,000 bushels less. Total supplies of flour and wheat in the United States and Canada report of 6.905 bushels per acre, or an increase of 6.824 bushels on the total area. The increase in the Central West is equal to 27,000,000 bushels, while in Texas and California the decrease is equal to about 8,000,000 bushels, making a net increase of 19,000,000 bushels, or a total crop of 244,000,000 bushels. Spring wheat outlook favors a very good yield. Farmers are selling wheat slowly, but interior supplies have increased nearly sufficient to offset the decrease in the "official visible." Milbers report the quality of winter wheat poor and tough-possibly not to exceed 40 per cent will grade No. 2. The quality is the best in New-York, Pennsylvania, Enstern Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee.

NEWS OF THE ARMY AND NAVY

ions of naval construction can be practically before vessels are laid down. This is a subject which has engaged the attention of the experts for a number of years. In Europe nearly every country ther built for war or commerce, are sub ected to preilminary trials before the work of con is begun. England, France, Germany Italy and Russia test models of their vessels it such tanks before beginning actual construction Experiments of the kind have been found valuable and a source of great economy. The Bureau o Construction has long desired an experimental tank, and Chief Constructor Hichborn, following the recommendations of Mr. Wilson, his predecessor, has repeatedly urged that Congress be requested to provide the necessary funds. It has been estimated hat $10,000 would cover the expense of construction Congress has failed to make such an appropria As a result this country, singularly alone, has had to depend upon theoretical calculations in the mportant matter of determining upon designs of ships to be constructed. Now, however, a partia step in the right direction is to be taken. Constructor Hichborn has decided that to the fulles extent possible, considering the requirements and the funds available, an experimental tank is to be Ferguson has been assigned to the duty of preparing a tank at the Washington Navy Yard. It will be the slip between an old shiphouse and the Potomac, and will be about seventy feet long, thirty feet wide and twelve feet deep. In the tank will first be signs of which are now being prepared. The prinresistance of ships to waves as the result of fricas to the performance of real ships. Questions of speed, stability, turning and other information of value to naval architects will be determined.

An interesting question relating to the flags to be carried by Army troops has been considered and settled by the authorities. Some time ago it was proposed that all regiments should dispense with their respective distinctive flags and carry only the National colors. The idea was that "Old Glory" should be the standard for both drills and battles around which the soldiers were to rally in peace and war. At present infantry regiments carry a blue flag, the artillery a scarlet flag, the cavalry a yellow flag and the engineer battalion a flag ave only the individual flag and do not carry the National colors. Many views were sought and obtained on the question from Army officers, and while a number favored the change and gave good reasons therefor, a majority opposed the adoption of the proposition, generally assigning sentiment as the basis of the opinions expressed. General Ruger was among those who said that the Natonal colors alone should be carried by regiments.

During the war he found that the troops held on to "Old Glory" in preference to the corps stand-

During the war he found that the troops near on to "Old Glory" in preference to the corps standards.

The authorities have decided that the corps flags are not to be abolished, but that they are to be carried with the Stars and Stripes in battle only. A further decision is that the cavalry is to carry the National ensign as well as the distinctive regimental colors. This is a decided innovation in custom. Thus the infantry regiments will have their bine flag, the artillery the scarlet colors, and the cavalry the yellow emblem, but each is to bear, in addition, the National standard.

The Boston will be ready for commissioning within the next thirty or forty days. Reports from Mare Island are to this effect. It is expected at the Navy Department that the work on the hull and machinery of the vessel, which has been going on for some time, will not longer hold her back. The Boston has been out of service since her return from Honolulu when, with her battailon on shore, the independence of Hawaii was established by the Dole Government under peaceful conditions. The ship is now nearly as good as new, and when commissioned, will be in condition for a further cruise of live or six years. No detail of officers for her has been made out, but the Subject is under consideration.

The torobabilities point to the Atlanta being put commissioned, will be in condition for a cruise of five or six years. No detail of officers for her has been made out, but the subject is under consideration.

The probabilities point to the Atlanta being put out of commission at an early date. The ship was the first of the modern vessels of the Navy to be put in service. She has been laid up several times at Navy yards for repairs, but never have her hull and machinery had a thorough overhauling. Patchwork has been done several times, but this has not been sufficient. The ship has been ordered to the New-York Navy Yard from Cuban waters, where she has been engaged on what Naval officers call "fillbustering duty." If she requires extensive improvements the work on her may be delayed until Congress makes a special appropriation, as the repair fund is limited. She probably needs new boiler tubes, new decks and considerable work on her engines. The work may lay her up for a year. Many Naval officers are hoping that fishing and other outdoor pleasures at and near Gray Gables will soon become less attractive. President Cleveland has before him between twenty and thirty records of examination in the cases of officers who have come up for promotion. Officers say, good naturedly, that because the fish bite too freely or other sports in Ruzzard's Bay are too engrossing, the President is unmindral of their interests. Some of the records have been at Gray Gables for more than a month. No word has been received at the Navy Department as to when the President will act. Among the promotion cases awaiting Executive approval or disapproval are those of Captain Howell, Commander Luddow and Lieutenant-Commander Coggeweil. There were majority and minority reports in each case, but the majority recommendations were favorable to the candidates. The case of Medical Inspector Kershner is among those before the President. Depending upon the Executive course is the promotion of over twenty officers, and there is no little impatience among those who are affected.

MR. BOWLER AND THE SUGAR BOUNTIES. SENATOR CAFFERY'S SEVERE ATTACK ON THE CONTROLLER'S POSITION.

Controller Bowler that he should pay the sugar bounty, as authorized by the last Congress, was continued to-day, Senator Caffery, of Louisiana, taking the floor. In opening he said he understood Mr. Bowler to because invalid for unconstitutionality was lodged in the executive branch of the Government, and that ar xecutive officer, by virtue of his office and stitutionality of a law.

Mr. Bowler remarked that that view was substan-

Senator Caffery contended that the judicial power was lodged in the Judicial Department alone and that the law in question was constitutional. Even conceding the act to be unconstitutional, the power of Congress to appropriate money was unlimited, especially when that body attempted to repair a wrong or injury inflicted by itself.

Senator Caffery, continuing, said that if the con-stitutional views of the Controller did not coincide with those of the President, the President could reve him and get a man whose views did. Mr Bowler assented to this.

If this question, said the speaker, was settled in favor of Mr. Bowler's contention, the office of Cor would be second in power only to that of e Supreme Court of the United States. The Dock-y law did not, and could not, give him the power claimed. Congress could grant no such power, the power must be derived from the Constitution by, and this great document did not even mention

Such power must be derived from the Constitution only, and this great document did not even mention the Controller.

The step contemplated by the Controller, said the Senator, was one of fearful responsibility. If the executive and judicial branches of the Government were merged into one there would be a monarchical form of government. If the framers of the Constitution had thought this possible under the Constitution as it stands it would have been drawn differently. The evil consequences which would flow from such a grant were so dangerous that they had never thought of such a thing.

At the conclusion of Senator Caffery's remarks an adjournment was taken until to-morrow, when Judge Semmes, of Louisiana, will be heard.

FREE-SILVER DEMOCRATS HEDGING. THE CHOICE BETWEEN THE WHITE HOUSE AND THE HOME DISTRICT A PAINFUL ONE. Washington, Aug. 9 (Special).-A Southern representative in Congress said to-day: "I am in favor of free coinage, and have in the past voted for it. But I would support the adoption by the Democratic National Convention of a declaration for the free coinage of silver by of a declaration for the free coinage of silver by the United States alone, with no mention of the ratio between gold and silver. I would then have the party nominate some man for President who represented the principles of the platform." This plainly means that some of the silver men in the Democratic party are hedging. Only a little while back, no silver Democrat would for a moment consider any proposition that did not in-clude the express ratio of 16 to 1. There is another point to be noted. The Southern silver Democrats are nearly all advocating the omission of Nationa are nearly all advocating the omission of National issues from State campaigns. As yet only a little talk on this line has been heard here, but it has come from States as wide apart as North Carolina and Louistana. In both, as in Alabama and Georgia, there is a growing division on the silver question, and leading Democrats hope to heal the breach by ignoring it.

Democratic Congressmen from the silver States are talking less for publication than they did a month or two ago, and that little is well guarded. Between the White House and the home district—oh, the choice is painful, and after all, silence is golden.

FOR JUSTICE JACKSON'S FUNERAL. THERE WILL BE NO OFFICIAL FORMALITY-MR

CLEVELAND'S MESSAGE OF CONDOLENCE. Washington, Aug. 9.-Arrangements for official participation in the funeral of Justice Jackson at West Mead, Nashville, Sunday afternoon, owing to the widely scattered locations of the members and officers of the Supreme Court, necessarily have to be made by telegraph, and nothing has yet been decided. Chief Justice Fuller is at his summer home, Sorrento, Me., and the associate jus-tices are scattered over the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is not probable, there-fore, that there will be more than two or three of the justices at the funeral. All of them have been advised of the death of their associate by Miss May Tompkins, assistant to the marshal of the

This evening Miss Tompkins was advised of the departure of Chief Justice Fuller and Associate Justice Brewer, who had been visiting the Chief Justice, from Sorrento for Nashville to attend the funeral. No responses have been received from any of the other justices, although it is supposed that Justice White, who is in Washington, and Justice ments, it being the practice of the court not to invest with any official formality the funeral of a member who dies during recess. Frederick E. Chapin, private secretary of Justice Jackson, left Washington to-night to attend the by President Cleveland until Congress meets. The circuit over which Justice Jackson presided by allotment of the court comprises the States of Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee, but it is the general opinion that the selection of a successor will be made from without that territory. Since the death of Justice Blatchford, the State of New-York has been without a representative on the bench, and it is believed that the President will go there for a successor to Justice Jackson. Whether or not he will again attempt to place Mr. Peckham or Mr. Hornblower on the bench is doubtful. The names of Secretary Carlisle, Postmaster General Wilson and Don M. Dickinson are also heard in the discussion. Buzzard's Bay, Mass., Aug. 9.—The following tel-

DROWNED HIMSELF AT THE BATTERY. A LIFE NEARLY LOST IN AN EFFORT AT RESCUS-

EXCITEMENT FOLLOWING THE BAND CONCERT. Great excitement was caused at the Battery about 10 o'clock last night by an unknown man's jumping into the river and committing suicide. James Con-nors and Charles Alexander, both members of the Volunteer Life Saving Service at the Battery, heard the cry "Man overboard," and ran to the spot, which was between the two bathhouses. Connors jumped into the water and swam toward the unknown man, but the latter sank before he reached him, and Connors, who is an expert swimmer, dived twice in an attempt to seize him.

His efforts were fruitiess, however, and he was nearly drowned himself. In the mean time Alexander procured a boat and went to his assistance. By the time he reached Connors the latter was exhausted and had to be pulled into the boat. He recovered soon after being landed on the sea waii.

The band concert in Hattery Park having just ended at the time of the occurrence, hundreds of people flocked to the place, but the only description that could be obtained of the suicide was that he was dressed in dark clothing. It was believed that he was carried out by the receding tide, as Connors, when rescued, was nearly two hundred feet from the wail.
